Next Level After Tutoring and Enrichment

Tutoring and Enrichment Sponsor Expectations:

- To keep our programs strong and responsive, attendance needs to be taken at every tutoring and enrichment session and submitted weekly. Your consistency helps us track student engagement and celebrate the impact these activities are making.
- Tutors, when you notice something that could support a student's success in class, please share it with their teacher. By partnering together, we can reinforce each other's efforts and give students the best chance to thrive.
- Tutors are expected to be fully engaged with students during every session. Tutoring should go beyond simply completing homework—students should leave more confident and capable than when they arrived. If specialized rooms have no students after 15 minutes, tutors should report to the library to support general tutoring.
- For our enrichment activities to thrive, we need steady student participation. Each activity will run on a three-week trial period, and if interest is low, we'll work together to make adjustments or consider other options that better engage our students.
- Our students count on the consistency of their enrichment activities, and your presence makes that possible. All Next Level Staff should plan to be available on all scheduled days and times. If you anticipate being away, please help us keep the momentum going by arranging coverage with an approved substitute so students don't miss out
