About Sayville UFSD

The Sayville Union Free School District serves approximately 2,400 students in prekindergarten through grade 12 from the communities of Sayville, West Sayville, and a portion of Bayport on Long Island's South Shore, in the Town of Islip. The district's 2026 to 2027 budget is $107 million. Set along the Great South Bay, Sayville is a close knit community that takes great pride in its schools.

The district is known for its rigorous academic program, strong graduation and attendance rates, Universal Prekindergarten, a wide range of extracurricular offerings, and achievements across all of its schools.

Sayville is a proudly inclusive school community, hosting the annual Special Olympics New York Unified Youth Summit and offering unified athletics, ICT courses, and the STRIDES program. The Board of Education seeks a leader who will build on the district's many strengths and move an already strong district forward.

OUR MISSION

Sayville Public Schools is a place where students, parents, staff, and members of the community work together to ensure an unwavering commitment to maximizing the potential of all students to become responsible, productive, and contributing citizens of the global community.
